Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,

Dear guests of the 5th Kiel Days in Poznań,

We are pleased to be this year again with a big Kiel University delegation the guests of Adam Mickiewicz University. We are most grateful to you for the kind invitation to Poznań and to join you in celebrating the "5th Kiel Days in Poznań"! We wish you and ourselves an interesting program, listening to the lectures, workshops and seminars with fruitful discussions.

Adam Mickiewicz University and Kiel University have been partners for more than 30 years! In August 1984 we signed the first memorandum of understanding. But contacts and exchange activities were taking place even before 1984. Since the beginning of our close collaboration we have enjoyed numerous successful exchange activities and have been working together in many joint study and research projects.

We are celebrating with the "5th Kiel Days in Poznań" our 10th joint university days and today we can already look back on a good tradition of bringing young people together: undergraduates, graduates and doctoral students from both universities, learning and working together on certain scientific topics in an international environment. Therefore, this time our delegation comprises almost 40 students and graduates plus another 40 docents and professors. And there is a lot to see and to hear during our joint university days. We will have several joint workshops and lectures, namely in the field of German literature, archaeology, Polish language and literature, history, urban geography, botany, geosciences, environmental studies, law, theology and materials sciences.

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen I kindly invite you to have a closer look at this very interesting program and to visit the different workshops and presentations.
